

With the much-anticipated teaser trailer soon to follow the reveal of the teaser poster for The Dark Knight Rises, various descriptions have hit the net, though most can be identified as a bat-fan's dream teaser. Well now, the folks at Collider have received a detailed description, and it's one the credible site is sure to be legit. With opposite sources backing up it's legitimacy, read on below. UPDATE #2: Collider has just tweeted: was just sent proof that the trailer description we posted for Dark Knight Rises trailer is 100% real. I don't think WB will be happy if I put it online -Trailer opens with studio logos set on top of the blue flame from Dark Knight. Start panning up some buildings, but to screen card. EVERY HERO HAS A JOURNAY. Cuts to a shot from Begins with Bruce walking up to that Village when he's looking for Ra's Screen Card: EVERY HERO HAS AN
