

Thanks to SuperHeroHype Forums member, "Dragon_316ca" we have the following set footage from Los Angeles, where filming is expected to commence later today. Current rumors seem to hint at the Batwing actually taking flight and being pursued by Gotham's finest. The fort that you can see in one of the videos is also believed to be Bane's compound, but we're sure to find out more over the course of the next few days. Also below are a couple of more photos featuring Christian Bale as Bruce Wayne being escorted in a GCPD squad car by Joseph Gordon-Levitt's John Blake.

There are also a few more even closer images (including what appears to be a stunt man in an ill fitting Batman suit) but they're a little blurry as the full size versions are watermarked. Here's a few of them regardless courtesy of Isopix. UPDATE: Here are some additional photos of Anne Hathaway
