

Just one pic for now but we will update when more become available. By way of some extra tidbits of info from today's shoot, apparently there were some major explosions when the Army got involved-presumably in a tussle with the lovely lady above. By all accounts it was pretty crazy, with helicopters and wreckage everywhere. There was also set to be a scene shot at a bowling alley at some point tomorrow but it was put on hold much to the chagrin of the extras that were set to appear. It's unclear exactly what the scene would have entailed. Many thanks to Gregory Zonsius of the MOS FB page for posting the pic. Some more pics from today's shoot.. By TwitterButtons.com
