

Rick Remender and Jeremy Opena are rumored to be starting on a new Marvel comic series titled Astonishing Avengers according to Bleedingcool.com. The rumor is "green with a tinge of yellow" as measured by the site's traffic-light rumor chart. The 'Astonishing' title usually means that it will be a limited series that will largely ignore any major events unfolding in the larger Marvel Universe. Here's a few more Marvel rumors that BC posted yesterday that the above rumors is spun from. -Rick Remender and Jeremy Opena on an Avengers book? New Avengers maybe? -Mark Waid takes over Avengers Assemble? -Jonathan Hickman and Essad Ribic on either Uncanny X-Men or the Avengers books that's not the one Remender and Opena are on? -Kieron Gillen and Greg Land on Iron Man. -Matt Fraction and Salvador Larocca are sticking together... wherever they end up. -Only the very best artists for a Brian Bendis cosmic relaunch... These

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=61625>