

We all know how unreliable IMDb is. However, they have on occasion been right about some things! Why an Earth (or should that be Asgard?) would there be a Frost Giant in The Avengers? Recent rumors have indicated that part of the movie WILL take place in Thor's realm. However, what's really interesting about this though, is the addition of Felicia Day as S.W.O.R.D Agent Abigail Brand...especially as it was The Avengers director Joss Whedon who created that character during his run on comic book series, "Astonishing X-Men". Plus, the actress has previously worked with Whedon on Buffy the Vampire Slayer and Dr. Horrible's Sing-Along Blog. And if that wasn't enough to get you interested, remember DCMarvelFreshman's article last year where Day stated that she'd be more than happy to take a role in the movie? No? Check it out here. Not much is known about Abigail since little has been revealed about
