

This is the episode Game Of Thrones fans have been waiting for. As anyone who has read George R.R. Martin's "A Clash Of Kings" will know how epic the Battle Of Blackwater proved to be, and episode 9 of HBO's fantasy drama series is entirely dedicated to it. Below we have our first look at Bronn ("son of..you wouldn't know him") getting ready to let an arrow loose at Stannis Baratheon's approaching fleet led by Davos Seaworth, while behind him Blackwater Bay readies for attack.. And here is a still from this Sunday's episode "The Prince Of Winterfell", featuring Varys and Tyrion.. And, HBO have released the synopsis for the final episode of season 2, entitled "Valar Morghulis" (translates to "all men must die"). It might be considered pretty SPOILERY, so if you haven't read the books and don't want to know the outline of the finale I'd skip it.. Episode #20: "Valar Morghulis"

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/roshachsrants/news/?a=59995>