

UPDATE: Word is that this FB page is actually a fake, and liking it will no more get you the trailer than turn you into a Klingon. Nothing official just yet, though it seems to be the general consensus in the blogosphere, but keep liking by all means just in case. You can help the first trailer for J.J. Abrams' Star Trek sequel to get here sooner by "liking" the official Facebook page for the movie. The page also posted the following image from the trailer. They're really not giving anything away on this one are they? "An exclusive trailer from Star Trek Into Darkness will be posted when we reach 500,000 likes! Share this to your friends! The fate of our page rests in your hands. Live long and prosper." Click HERE to get liking. Share on Facebook, Twitter and anywhere else you think this would pick up support, and it shouldn't

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=68813>