

When Marvel announced plans for "____ Reborn" there were many names thrown around, but how many of you guessed it would be Cable? Well, as you can see from the following excerpt, it would appear that Bleeding Cool have in fact learned that it'll be the recently deceased X-Man who comes back from the dead in the December series. Bleeding Cool has just been told from a source who should know (and is pretty sure) that the Reborn teaser for San Diego Comic Con, a new book to be written by Jeph Loeb and Ed McGuinness is... Cable Reborn. Let's find out if said source is right. I'd go with a 99% on this one... The last time we saw Cable, this happened, so who knows how they'll bring him back. Share your thoughts and theories below, and stay tuned for confirmation of this, and more information about the planned

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=42698&t=font_color_redUPDATEfont_SDCC_11_RUMOR_Cable_Set_To_Be_Reborn_In_The_Marvel_Universe