

We have been hearing Robert Rodriguez promise he would be bringing us another Sin City for years now. So when the director recently announced that he was definitely getting to work on it soon, fans didn't hold their breath. But then we started to hear a bit more about it, cast members were quoted as saying they were set to return, and we even got a teaser poster of sorts (see below). And now we have a release date.. A Tweet from Variety's Jeff Sneider reveals..
BREAKING: DIMENSION to release FRANK MILLER'S SIN CITY: A DAME TO KILL FOR nationwide on October 4, 2013. UPDATE: Some more details have been revealed via press release. Robert Rodriguez and Frank Miller are co-directing the movie, which is scheduled to shoot this summer in Austin Texas, home of Rodriguez's Troublemaker Studios. And in addition to Mickey Rourke (who we already knew was reprising the role of Marv),

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsants/news/?a=59911>