

Thanks to Coming Soon, we have a first look at what might just be the first teaser posters for all of the above movies which were spotted at this year's Licensing Expo in Las Vegas. A Good Day To Die Hard is the only one which appears to use an old image, while the others (specifically R.I.P.D. and Robocop) come with a couple of new taglines not seen before. Which is your favourite? Sound off with your thoughts in the usual place!
