

Well, it really seems as though today was a rather busy shoot. Another SHH Ninja called Raganork8 got the chance to take some new images of Bane's "Earthquake machine" along with the "Batwing" hovering over it. Find out what he also had to say about Mondine's character. "So the day was long and there wasn't much we could do to bring you back stuff (sorry) They started early and were shooting Stock Exchange Employees coming out of the Stock Exchange Building with their hands up as if they were being held up, then something happens and they dive to either side in a panic and Bane Mercs on Motorcycles come barreling down the steps with hostages on their backs and down the street into an alley. (they also shot the Mercs going inside) They later would shoot the Bane Mercs going down an alley. Modine was there the entire time and when the Exchange workers come
