

Roughly three weeks from its much-anticipated release, it's no surprise details regarding the traditional post-credits scene now in Marvel Studios' latest big-screen adaptation THOR, has emerged online. With another Spoiler Warning, highlight the description below, only if you possess the power! Nick Fury arrives to New Mexico and talks to Professor Selvig (Stellan Skarsgard) about the Tesseract (cosmic cube). And it's revealed that he's (Selvig) actually Loki. Anyhow, said to essentially lead to The Avengers, or a Thor sequel, overall reviews of the film are so far "A-ok". So look for THOR in theaters May 6, and be sure to stay after the credits to witness visually!

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=35430&t=Vague_Description_Of_iTHORis_Post-Credits_Scene_Revealed