

Some understand him, some don't, but I think we can all agree that his audio could be a little clearer one way or the other. Big deal? Not really, but anyone would think Tom Hardy was speaking Klingon in that TDKR prologue for all the fuss it's caused. Anyway here we have the inevitable first (of what is sure to be many) parody vids for Christopher Nolan's new...err, trailer. There were quite a few of these knocking around after The Dark Knight, as some people (incomprehensibly) apparently had trouble understanding Batman in that movie. And lo and behold that "joke" has been milked once again. I found this one about as funny as Schindler's List but see what you make of it.. LOL, did you see the bit where Gordon couldn't understand what they were saying?!! up your game at Gambling Insider
