

Source: Game Trailers Just as quickly as the news broke about new DLC for Batman: Arkham City, we know get our first look at the Batcave DLC. Is it the episodic continuation of the main story that Kevin Conroy teased earlier this year at SDCC'11? Sadly, it's only another challenge map. Nevertheless, it still looks pretty cool on first impressions. Click the link below (there is currently no embed) and skip to the 04:23 mark to see Rocksteady's take on the Batcave. Apparently Tyger guards have broken into the Batcave and it's up to Batman to clear the cave of intruders. I wonder what Oracle and Alfred are doing while Hugo Strange's cronies loiter about the Batmobile, Batcomputer, and priceless T-Rex replica. Don't forget that in addition to the Batcave challenge map, the previously exclusive DLC s Iceberg Lounge and Joker's Carnival become available to the masses. [Click on the poster

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=50435&t=VIDEO_GAMES_First_Look_At_Batman_Arkham_City_Batcave_DLC