

Bleeding Cool have come across www.hitmonkeygame.com, a website which appears to confirm plans for a video game based on the character from High Moon Studios. As you can see from the screengrab below, it features a link to the Marvel HeroHQ discussion forums and is registered by Marvel. This makes it hard to doubt the speculation that this is the video game they will be announcing at the San Diego Comic-Con next weekend. The Hit-Monkey character was created by Daniel Way and Dalibor Talajić in 2010 and appeared in a three-part miniseries before seemingly being killed at the hands of Deadpool a few months later. Click on the image below to view the site.

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=63161>