

Announced earlier this year, 007 Legends brings back James Bond to the world of video games just in time for the release of Skyfall on the big screen. As well as a storyline which will take players through that and five of the other most iconic Bond movies (note classic villain 'Jaws' in the teaser image of this article), 007 Legends features the return of fan-favorite single-player Mi6 Ops Missions, which debuted in GoldenEye 007: Reloaded. There will also be a four-player split-screen game mode and online competitive gameplay. To celebrate the James Bond franchise's 50th anniversary, Activision Publishing, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of Activision Blizzard, Inc., will launch gamers back through time to relive a selection of Bond's most iconic and intense undercover missions from the popular Bond film franchise with 007 Legends. A first-of-its-kind Bond video game, 007 Legends features an original, overarching storyline tying together six classic Bond
