

The Amazing Spider-Man has been releasing a bunch of new stuff lately. From a couple of new trailers to the toy line it seems that the market machine has really taken off for the movie. Another aspect of the movie that is getting released is a video game based on the movie. Earlier JoshW posted a new screen shot from the game. Now, Thanks to Game Tyrant take a look at the new trailer that gives us a good look at how Spidey will move in the game. The trailer was shown at this past year's New York Comic Con but is just now being released in HQ for everyone else. Beenox, the same company that brought you Spider-Man: Edge of Time & Spider-Man: Shattered Dimensions, have been in charge of developing the game. The game is scheduled to be released to go a long with the movie sometime in the Summer,

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=54828&t=VIDEO_GAMES_New_Trailer_For_THE_AMAZING_SPIDER-MAN_Game