

Developed by Activision and High Moon Studios, Transformers: Fall of Cybertron takes fans through the final, darkest hours of the civil war between the Autobots and the Decepticons as they fight for control of their dying planet, ultimately leading to their storied exodus from home.

In addition to this epic multiplayer trailer, Xbox 360 and Playstation 3 users will be able to try two intense single-player missions as well as try the multiplayer of the game complete with character customization on July 31st when the demo releases. Unfortunately, PC players will not be able to play the game early.
