

Web sling your way through this gameplay demo for The Amazing Spider-Man from E3 2012. The first gameplay video here actually shows that the webs really don't connect to anything when you swing, however we also get a listen at Spider-Man's voice and it sounds nothing like Andrew Garfield. Here is a much longer gameplay video and interview with Beenox director. How are you feeling about this game so far? I'm completely convinced. In this second video, the director confirms the Voice Actors are not from the movie. He also confirms that Lucha Libre is the inspiration for the combat and that they "touch upon it" within the movie.
