

Quite a prankster than Kark Urban! It seems the actor - who plays Dr. McCoy in Star Trek - enjoys having a bit of fun with fans. First he "let slip" that Benedict Cumberbatch was playing Gary Mitchell in J.J. Abrams Trek sequel (thsi has since been denied by Robert Orci), then he promised fans that before the week was out we would see some footage from said sequel. Well, in the below vid we do see some set footage from the movie - Abrams and co holding some strange objects which may or may not have some bearing on the plot - but before we get to it at the 3:46 mark we have 3 minutes of teh actor surfing to a Cage The Elephant tune.. Hey, it's something! Any ideas what that is Abrams is holding?

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=63892>