

Last week, the script for the Michael Bay-produced and Johnathon Liebsman-directed TMNT reboot, entitled Ninja Turtles leaked online. Now Latino Review, have now released a full video overview of the script, and it's not good. Along with the extensive video review, the site revealed a statement from Michael Bay (director of the Transformers movies) about the leaked and poorly received script. Check out all down below! "The leaked script that different sites continue to comment on was written well before I, or anyone at Platinum Dunes, was involved with the project. That script saw the shredder a long time ago. This is tired, old news -- wait for the movie!" Latino Review points out that the script they reviewed and many others have also has a 30th of January 2012 date on it, and Bay's production company Platinum Dunes had been attached to the project for 2 years by then. Ninja Turtles is currently

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/NerdyGeek/news/?a=66561>