

Just two days ago it was announced that there is a short list of eight directors being considered to direct the new Wolverine Origins film. If you're anything like me, the name that jumped out at you was the name that nobody knew anything about - Gary Shore. It was reported that he has worked primarily on commercials. This morning I found that he has already directed a Wolverine short using still photo's and some pretty cool FX. Although this video was made three months ago, one of the strange things about this short is that it also pertains to Logan's time in Japan. Wolverine Vs The Hand from Gary Shore on Vimeo. By TwitterButtons.com

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GulfCoastAvengers/news/?a=38131&t=bVIDEOb_iWolverine_VS_The_Handi_by_Gary_Shore