

The investor community is picking Walt Disney (NYSE: DIS) as a stock to BUY based off the recent Avengers trailer and recent success of Captain America and Thor this past summer. There not so crazy about Time Warner (NYSE: TWX) thanks in part to who they put it, "failed to establish a cinematic foothold for one of its own lesser heroes in June, Green Lantern.

However, they do offer some suggestions as to how TWX can be just as successful as Marvel.

Source: The Motley Fool Look In-house My suggestion? Look to Bruce Timm, the creative genius behind DC's animated epics. His latest -- Green Lantern: Emerald Knights -- has taken in roughly $2.9 million in DVD sales, according to heNumbers.com. Count me among the buyers. My 6-year-old son and I rented Emerald Knights on iTunes because I thought the live-action version might be too scary for him. As a series, DC's

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/GraphicCity/news/?a=48116&t=emWall_Streetem_Has_A_Way_For_emWarner_Brosem_To_Quote_Be_More_Like_emMarv_elem