Brendon Connelly from Bleeding Cool, recently had the chance to ask cinematographer Wally Pfister a few questions about The Dark Knight Rises, and he dropped some very intriguing pieces of information. Here's a couple of the most interesting excerpts from the report. Be sure to follow the link over to the site to read more, and for the links to the full audio interview! Talking of the screentests, Kevin asked: So, Wally you shot Anne's screen test for Catwoman? To which he replied in the affirmative. That's a yes to Kevin saying "Catwoman", not "Selina Kyle". Hmm. Pfister added, a little later: "She looks phenomenal in the wardrobe." I couldn't let that lie. Later, I came back to it and asked if this meant what it seems to mean: "Brendon, I'd get fired and I wouldn't even get to shoot the picture...I can't really say, but I definitely want to be around next year..." They also asked him about
