

Our first exposure to promotional material since the first official still, Warner Bros. has launched the official Facebook profile for their forthcoming Zack Snyder-directed 'Superman' reboot, Man of Steel. And that launch has offered the first look at the film's redesigned iconic emblem in the form of a banner. Check it out below! The folks from Cosmic Book News speculated that we'd get new promotional material from Man Of Steel earlier today. And putting together pieces of the puzzle, we may get official still photos fairly soon. And of course, there's the long-timed rumor that the reboot's teaser trailer will screen before The Dark Knight Rises in theaters. It's also rumored that there will be promotion at this year's San Diego Comic-Con. What do you think? Henry Cavill plays Superman in director Zack Snyder's Man of Steel. The film also stars Amy Adams as Daily Planet journalist Lois Lane, and

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=57138>