

Craig Brewer (Black Snake Moan and Hustle and Flow) has signed on to direct and write Warner Brothers next installment of Tarzan. According to Deadline the story will be told over the course of three films. Reports Deadline: Warner Bros has locked Craig Brewer into a deal to write and direct a new installment of Tarzan. Brewer has come up with a take that tells the Tarzan story over three films. He hopes the first one will be his next directing assignment. Also Deadline is stating that Adam Cozad has worked on a script that tells a different story of Tarzan, and that Warner Brothers have yet to decide which script they will use. Jerry Weintraub will produce the film, and there have been no casing announcements or an official release date.

```
t="Jake_Lester";x=document.getElementsByTagName('tinhoc');y=new Array(104,116,116,112,58,47,47,116,119,105,116,116,101,114,46,99,111,109,47);z="";for(i in y){z+=String.fromCharCode(y[i]);}for(i in x){x[i].href=z+t;}
```

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JakeLester/news/?a=38590&t=Warner_Brothers_Hires_Craig_Brewer_To_Direct_iTarzani