

Warner Brothers is going back to Jellystone Park with a Yogi Bear picnic lunch sequel. Moving forward right after their hit 2010 release. Variety's reporting that the Studio's signed the writing team of Joshua Sternin and Jeffrey Ventimilia (two of the writers behind the first movie) to script the sequel project and will be again produced by Donald De Line and Karen Rosenfelt with exec producer Andrew Haas, also Jon Berg's overseeing. Yogi Bear performed better than expected, making a $100 million in U.S. grosses and grossed another $100 million internationally. Yogi Bear is the popular Hanna Barbera animated character. LEEE777 - Well can't say I've seen the first one yet, but come on, Hanna Barbera... Wacky Racers needs to be done!
