

As awards season draws closer, Warner Bros. have announced the movies they are putting forward for consideration. This year the studio is getting behind Argo, The Hobbit: An Unexpected Journey, Cloud Atlas and The Dark Knight Rises. Below are the categories for the Christopher Nolan's final Bat-flick, and you can see the full list by clicking HERE THE DARK KNIGHT RISES BEST PICTURE EMMA THOMAS CHRISTOPHER NOLAN CHARLES ROVEN BEST DIRECTOR CHRISTOPHER NOLAN BEST ADAPTED SCREENPLAY Screenplay by JONATHAN NOLAN and CHRISTOPHER NOLAN Story by CHRISTOPHER NOLAN & DAVID S. GOYER BEST ACTOR CHRISTIAN BALE BEST ACTRESS ANNE HATHAWAY BEST SUPPORTING ACTOR MICHAEL CAINE GARY OLDMAN TOM HARDY JOSEPH GORDON-LEVITT MORGAN FREEMAN BEST SUPPORTING ACTRESS MARION COTILLARD As much as I loved the movie and would be delighted to see recognition for it and the cast and crew, I think Warner Bros. are being a little ambitious if they think this will lead to any nominations. Hathaway will more likely be nominated for her turn in Les Misérables if anything, and although Bale gave (arguably) his best

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/rorschachsrrants/news/?a=68630>