

Looking at the set photos posted earlier today got me thinking. Just what exactly is that at the end of the staff Loki is wielding? It's doesn't look like the Cosmic Cube in my opinion. (although there is of course nothing to say that they won't alter the look completely during post production with the use of CGI) Instead, I believe that this is instead one of the Infinity Gems...specifically the "Mind" one. Here's the picture and what's most interesting about the blue gem. "It allows the user to greatly strengthen and enhance mental and psionic power and access the thoughts and dreams of other beings. Backed by the Power Gem, the Mind Gem can access all minds in existence simultaneously." And here are some details about the rest of them. Could this be how Loki ends up facing off against each of the team? After all, the bar scene described in

Read more: http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/joshw24/news/?a=45017&t=What_Is_Loki_Wielding_In_Latest_iAvengersi_Set_Photos_Could_It_BeAn_Infinity_Gem