

Number 5 Psychic Being Psychic would be a great Super Power to use at work, I mean you could do what your boss wants before he asks you and you could do it how he wants, eventually making you employee of the universe. Also it would get you to the top in society going from good job, to better job, to great job, eventually leaving you rich and successful. Word of warning though, it may be best not to tell your Boss about your "abilities" as he may not appreciate you reading his thoughts. Number 4 Duplication Everyone gets caught with those hard labouring tasks like, assignments and shelf stacking, if only there were more people helping. With Duplication, you would be able to get your work finished in no time and still take all the credit. This however also has its share of draw backs such as the case of, what if you
