

In Comic Con , Mark Ruffalo made his first major appearance as the casting replacement for the Avengers' Incredible Hulk, and was booed. Now I'm not here to get on a soap box or judge, I'm a fanboy too, and we've all had times when something we love seems like it might be ruined by Hollywood decisions. But I just wanted to say, after checking out Avengers twice, I think Mr Ruffalo is the best actor to play this role. I've been trying to think about why that is, and I've boiled it down to 3 main aspects. Which is to say, EVERYTHING about the character The Alter-Ego of HULK All the actors who have played Bruce Banner have got the brooding down. Eric Bana got the shy and quiet aspect. Edward Norton got to be the darker, repressed Banner on the run. While I still would have

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/Grizzly/news/?a=59881>