

Now get your pinch of salt handy, there is nothing to suggest that these accounts are legit. The reason I post it as a rumor is that several different people have claimed to have spotted Murphy on set around the same time of shooting and the following two accounts also link up. Still, with no hard evidence we can't know for sure but at the rate photos are being leaked from that set it shouldn't be long before we find out one way or the other. The first account is from Magnusrex.. Cillian Murphy is returning in TDKR. You can see him at Union Station in Los Angeles, but at least that's where I saw him earlier on my way back home from taking spy photos. I couldn't take a picture of him because there are a ton of security guards, but he's definitely there. You can take this as 100% legit fact. Scarecrow
