

Is Deadshot going to return to Gotham City? If Will Smith gets his way, then yes, as the actor has expressed an interest in reprising the role of Floyd Lawton in David Ayer's Gotham City Sirens. The female led movie will put the spotlight on Harley Quinn and a number of other fan-favourite villains (Poison Ivy and Catwoman are likely), but that doesn't mean some other familiar faces won't show up! Harley and Deadshot struck up quite the friendship in Suicide Squad, so the two of them could cross paths again, especially as Warner Bros. is reportedly considering giving the villain his own movie. "I'd definitely love to be in it," Smith says in the video below. "I love Margot Robbie. I will do, like, anything she wants to do. That didn't come out, but... it probably did. It probably came out exactly how I meant it." Would you like to see Deadshot in Gotham City Sirens? If so, what role do you
