

Anthony Horowitz sat down with BBC Radio 5Live to chat about his new Sherlock Holmes novel; House of Silk. But as yesterday was the official announcement of Bond 23: Skyfall, the conversation soon moved towards how Anthony would approach a Bond film if given the chance and what it was like working with Steven Spielberg on The Adventures of Tintin: The Secret of the Unicorn and the upcoming sequel. Anthony Craig Horowitz (born 5 April 1956) is an English novelist and screenwriter. He has written many children's novels, including The Power of Five, Alex Rider and The Diamond Brothers series and has written over fifty books. He has also written extensively for television, adapting many of Agatha Christie's Hercule Poirot novels for the ITV series. He is the creator and writer of the ITV series Foyle's War, Midsomer Murders and Collision.
