

In the two final trailers for Logan, both kick off with the young X-23 attacking a store clerk before she's restrained by Wolverine. However, what we didn't see there is that she goes to do more than punch the poor guy...she's ready to drive her claws straight through his skull! Chances are Fox took them out of the trailers because they wanted that reveal to come as a surprise to viewers at a later point. Regardless, this is a cool visual, and once again emphasises just how cool the young hero is. However, with so much confusion surrounding the X-Men Universe timeline, we have no real idea what the future holds in store for her. As Hugh Jackman gets ready to hang up his claws, common sense says she'll take his place in X-Force, but there's simply no way of knowing until we hear something official. Logan stars Hugh Jackman, Dafne Keen, Boyd Holbrook, Richard E. Grant, Stephen Merchant, and Patrick Stewart. It's currently

Read more: <https://www.comicbookmovie.com/x-men/logan/x-23s-claws-come-out-in-this-new-tv-spot-for-logan-a148469>