

Not too long after actor Joshua Dallas confirmed he wouldn't be reprising his role in Marvel's Thor 2 followup as Fandral the Dashing, ironically, comedian-actor Zachary Levi was being re-targeted for his replacement. And while not confirming his involvement, Levi recently addressed the "rumbling" with the Huffington Post. "There was quite a lot of rumbling that went on," Levi laughed. "That all of a sudden popped up. I was in Japan at the time and I was on Twitter and people started Tweeting me that Josh Dallas had to back out of the film and they were saying, "Oh opening! Opening!" And I think maybe my fans knew that I had to back out of Fandral back in the day, then they started this whole stuff about me in the movie." "I can't really comment on that at the moment, but I would be honored to be in that movie. I

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/MarvelFreshman/news/?a=63444>