

Talking to E! Online at the Arthritis Foundation gala in Beverly Hills yesterday, Man of Steel director Zack Snyder was finally quizzed on the question that's been on the mind of many a comic book fan for a while now. Is he interested in also helming a follow-up to the eagerly anticipated reboot? "We like to take it one step at a time and not curse anything," he teased. "It's that kind of thing so we'll see what happens." Fair enough. It's way too early for sequel talk at this point anyway (something which Green Lantern proved pretty quickly when it bombed both critically and financially at the box office last year). As for not giving away anything about the plot, he added, "It's super hard to keep it a secret" and said this about seeing Henry Cavill suit up for the first time. "It was awesome. You look at him

Read more: <http://www.comicbookmovie.com/fansites/JoshWildingNewsAndReviews/news/?a=69403>