

Following yesterday's behind-the-scenes look at the jaw-dropping warehouse sequence from Batman v Superman: Dawn of Justice, director Zack Snyder (Justice League) has just shared an extensive VFX breakdown, which allows you to relive the critically disdained DC film like never before. The video runs nearly 12 minutes long and takes you through nearly every major sequence in the movie from the opening credits where Bruce Wayne falls into a bat-infested cave to the CGI-heavy final battle between The Trinity and Doomsday, which concluded with the Man of Steel making the ultimate sacrifice. Check it out below: <https://t.co/1SsZsaA1Ye> This is a look behind the curtain and what my amazing VFX team is able to achieve... they are simply amazing.

<https://t.co/1SsZsaA1Ye> — Zack Snyder (@ZackSnyder) February 8, 2017 BvS Before & After from Cruel Films on Vimeo. Fearing the actions of a god-like Super Hero left unchecked, Gotham City's own formidable, forceful vigilante takes on Metropolis's most revered, modern-day savior, while the world wrestles with what sort of hero it really

Read more: https://www.comicbookmovie.com/batman\_vs\_superman/zack-snyder-shares-a-pretty-impressive-new-vfx-breakdown-for-a148802