

It's hard to imagine a new release taking down the top domestic opening of the year, the top worldwide opening of the year, the fourth highest worldwide opening of all-time and still not meeting the expectations of its studio. That seems to be the case here for Pirates of the Caribbean: On Stranger Tides, with Walt Disney falling short of its $100 million prediction with an opening tally of $90.1 million in coin in its U.S. opening...
